Executive Summary

A study of the Olive Garden restaurant number 1810 was conducted by an entry-level employee from the period of January 2011 to March 2011. Olive Garden Italian Restaurant is a corporate restaurant under the Darden Restaurants Corporation, centrally located in Orlando, Florida. Olive Garden (OG) Restaurant number 1810 is located in Michigan City, Indiana; of the of Chicago corporate region.

Individuals who participated in the study were entry-level employees, corporate trainers, and restaurant managers. Each participant completed a multitude of tasks which included a needs assessment, task analysis, training workshop, and multiple material evaluations. Due to decreased customer satisfaction, a strategy was needed in order to increase corporate Guest Satisfaction Survey (GSS) Scores. Scores initially demonstrated that OG # 1810 was eight percent below our corporate benchmark in relationship to overall satisfaction.

Through the needs analysis, the most significant findings were:

- A desire for more workers per shift
- Increased communication amongst all staff
- A need for more training

Amongst the training aspects, portion control was identified as the top factor in the need for more training. A facilitator's manual, step-by-step task outline, concept maps, and an instructional PowerPoint were created as part of the training materials.

In order to assess the instructional materials; all participants were required to participate in a training workshop that evaluated the following objectives:

- Personal Protective Equipment- The employee will identify the reason and apply/remove protective apparel with 100% accuracy within 2-3 minutes.
- Ingredients-The employee will show the location and obtain all necessary ingredients to prepare a salad with 100% accuracy within 3-4 minutes.
- Equipment-The employee gathers with 100% accuracy all equipment to prepare a salad properly within 2-3 minutes.
- Scale Use-The employee demonstrates with minimally 90% or greater accuracy; the proper steps for scale usage for salad measurement.
- Portion According to Number of Guests-The employee correctly verbalizes with minimally 85% accuracy the proper portioning for the following guest group sizes:
 1. 1-2 guests
 2. 3 guests
 3. 4-5 guests
 - The employee is able demonstrate preparation with 100% accuracy a portioned salad size per a given scenario from the instructor.

After evaluation of the materials, participants shared their opinions of their experience with the training module in relation to actual corporate standards. A summary of the subjective feedback and detailed participant responses is located in this report. The complete set of findings, materials, and evaluations are presented following this executive summary.

Statement of the problem

Decreased Customer Satisfaction at Olive Garden

Introduction: I set up a strategy that enhances Guest Satisfaction at Olive Garden Italian restaurant. My primary focus was to assist in increasing customer satisfaction through the promotion of teamwork amongst all staff at the restaurant.

Condition: It was identified through our Guest Satisfaction Surveys (GSS) that our restaurant was not satisfying our overall guest's needs according to corporate standards. Scores demonstrated that we were eight-percent below our corporate benchmark in relationship to overall customer satisfaction.

Criterion: Teamwork needed to be enhanced to increase customer satisfaction up to the corporate standard of 52% for GSS. A checklist identifying daily service staffs responsibilities was proposed to be developed; checked off, and turned in by each employee in order ensure that the assigned responsibilities were completed. In addition, a communication log was also proposed to be completed by all staff. In order to ensure faster service, managers and trainers were required to check on ticket times to ensure that guests received prompt service throughout their entire restaurant experience.

Possible Causes: The problem may have existed due low levels of service staff per shift and lack of effective training.

Symptoms:

- Decreased Satisfaction Scores
- Decreasing Guest Counts
- Guest Comments relating to:
 - Attentiveness of staff
 - Pace of service
 - Food Quality

Needs Assessment

Needs Assessment Plan

Decreased Customer Satisfaction at Olive Garden

Problem Statement

Olive Garden GSS (Guest Satisfaction Survey) Scores decreased eight percent from the previous quarter. According to corporate standards, our GSS scores needed to be minimally at 52% satisfaction. In order to identify the possible causes, a “needs analysis” was completed by random employee levels.

While sales at Olive Garden were sufficient; the restaurant was suffering from decreased satisfaction scores; negative guest comments relating to attentiveness of staff, pace of service, and food quality; as well as decreasing guest counts.

Phase I- Planning for Learner Analysis

Target Population

Current Employees of GMRI Inc., Olive Garden (d/b/a Olive Garden) # 1810. Olive Garden is part of the Darden, Incorporated.

- Age: Varies, at least 18 years of age or older
- Gender:
 - Service Staff(FOH): Primarily Female
 - Culinary Staff(BOH): Primarily Male
- Work Experience: Varies; Beginner-Well Experienced
- Education: High School Education or higher
- Ethnicity: Caucasian, Hispanic, & African-American primarily
- Learning Style: To be determined by Learner’s Assessment

Strategy

To complete the needs assessment for Olive Garden's performance problems, a survey was distributed to 20 random participants. It was estimated that data would be collected within one week; however, the survey was planned to be distributed on a low business volume day and was collected by the end of the week (Example: Distributed on a Monday afternoon during my normal shift and collected no later than Sunday afternoon).

Data was collected via the following methods:

- Needs Survey
- Learning Assessment
- Data through written and verbal communication.

Analysis

Most of the data was analyzed through simple statistics by percentages. All questions were open-ended questions. The quantitative research method was used to calculate the first section of questions; which were primarily yes or no questions with an opportunity to discuss further recommendations. The qualitative research method was used for the second section of the survey which also allowed for detailed recommendations.

Participants

The participants were 20 random entry-level employees as well as two managers of Olive Garden #1810.

Phase II- Planning for Contextual Analysis

Instructional Analysis

The target audience would plan to be addressed at the local Olive Garden Restaurant in Michigan City, Indiana.

Factor	Analysis
Lighting	Lighting can be controlled in the dining room used for instruction. In addition, curtains can be closed to further block external distractions.
Noise	While external noise cannot be controlled; the internal restaurant music can be silenced to avoid noise distractions.
Temperature	Temperature can be controlled within the dining room to ease the target audience.
Seating	Seating for 260 guests is available within the restaurant and will accommodate all employees within each service sector efficiently.
Accommodations	Olive Garden is located off the main artery road (in the south business district) within Michigan City. Local hotel and restaurants are available within one-quarter mile of the food service establishment.
Equipment	Equipment is available at the local restaurant as well as the corporate offices for instructional needs. Rentals are also available for local rental stores.
Transportation	Transportation will be a requirement for employees in order to attend this meeting. Reasonable transportation is required as a preliminary aspect of hiring.

Transfer of Analysis

The material will be addressed through the three competency domains:

- Critical Thinking
- Cognitive
- Psychomotor

A skills list was planned to be developed in order to define the procedure required step by step. The individual was evaluated through competency and demonstration through the defined psychomotor skills; which was the preferred method used in this module.

Needs Assessment

Decreased Customer Satisfaction at Olive Garden

Problem Statement

Olive Garden GSS (Guest Satisfaction Survey) Scores decreased eight percent from the previous quarter. According to corporate standards, our GSS scores needed to be minimally at 52% satisfaction. In order to identify the possible causes, a “needs analysis” was completed by random employee levels.

While sales at Olive Garden were sufficient; the restaurant was suffering from decreased satisfaction scores; negative guest comments relating to attentiveness of staff, pace of service, and food quality; as well as decreasing guest counts.

Target Population: Olive Garden Restaurant #1810. The employees were randomly selected

Purpose:

To determine why recent GSS scores have decreased compared to previous quarters.

Process: The following needs assessment tools were used to gather information.

Information was gathered from entry-level employees as well as two managers by a survey of questions asking about their positions and suggestions for the improving the performance standards. Surveys were distributed randomly and the response rate was 70%. This information was utilized for the purpose of determining the specific factors of the overall problem; as well as developing assessments and the instructional design module.

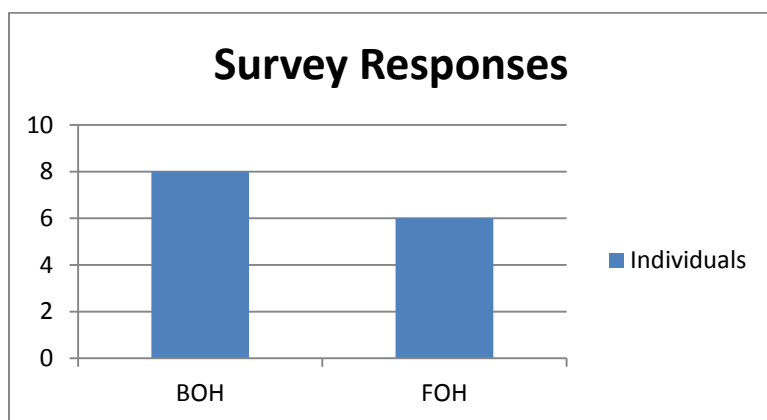

Data was collected via the following methods:

- Needs Survey
- Learning Assessment
- Data through written and verbal communication.

Results:

BOH= (Back of the House/Culinary Staff)

*Vertical Axis represents number of responses.

Based on the data shown; more responses were given from the Back of the House versus the Front of the House.

Needs & Goals Assessment

Implications:

Based on the data shown and tallied results, it has been found that there are three main focuses:

- Need for more workers per shift
- Need for on-going training
- Need for effective communication between manager staff and lower-level employees.

Need for more workers per shift:

Although the perception initially indicates more staff being needed; the following changes will be the initial focus with a follow-up survey being completed every four weeks to identify if there is a decrease in the perception of additional staff needed.

- 1) Objective: Recommend changes within staffing patterns and job responsibilities to enhance employee relations and job productivity.
 - a. Goal: Post the recommended changes for 2-4 weeks and seek written feedback of employees (to see if improvements are being made).
- 2) Objective: Develop action plans directed at increased teamwork responsibility and accountability.
 - a. Goal: Post changes in action plans for minimally 2-4 weeks.
 - b. Goal: Document any discrepancies made by employees and create a follow up plan within one week.
- 3) Objective: Redesign workflow to increase productivity and delivery time of all services.
 - a. Goal: Re-evaluate job duties to include a checklist identifying daily service staffs responsibilities. This checklist will be checked off by a designated individual or by a manager at the end of each individuals shift. If a designated individual is appointed the checklist; that individual will be held accountable for any duties not completed on the checklist.
 - b. Goal: Allow managers and trainers to check on ticket times to ensure that guests received prompt service throughout their entire restaurant experience.
 - c. Goal: A communication log shall be completed by all staff weekly and will be reviewed for accuracy.

- 4) Objective: Review current employee compensation/recognition plans (employee incentive plans) based upon increased productivity and customer satisfaction.
- a. Goal: Post current incentives program and list enhancements for employee's to recognize the incentives being offered.

All objectives: Re-survey staff every four weeks to see that individual goals are being met.

Goal: Increase employee satisfaction by minimally 15% per quarter, as required by restaurant standards; or until desired level is reached.

Need for ongoing training:

- 1) Objective: Identify specific training needs and preferred methods of training based upon learning assessment distributed to employees.
- a. Goal: Prioritize the top requested training.
- i. Attendance will be documented and managers will evaluate the satisfaction based on the training provided.
 - ii. The need's survey comments will be used in addition to requested training (in learner's assessment) in order to further prioritize top requested training.
- 2) Priority for Training: Provide one training in-service per month at the restaurant on low-business volume days between the week days of Monday-Wednesday as requested by employees in the learner's assessment.
- 3) Content: Identification of training needed of the top two skills from the learning analysis are as followed:
- i. Portion Control
 1. Demonstration of proper salad, soup, breadstick, and alcoholic beverage portioning.
 - ii. Customer Service
 1. Complete a scenario under an expected time limit of three to a maximum of five minutes showing delivery of proper guest greetings and refills of food and beverages and check delivery upon customer completion of the guest's dining experience.
- 4) Training Preference: Training will be delivered in a skills workshop with the top two requested skills as defined by requests from the learner's analysis.
- a. The learners identified the need for demonstration and return demonstration requirements

Need for effective communication:

- 1) Objective: Create a clearer understanding of expectations of each individual's job, team responsibilities, and specific customer service satisfaction requirements.
 - a. Goal: Hold one-hour quarterly meetings to address expectations.
 - i. Attendance will be documented and managers will relate recognition moments and post the notes from the meeting for at least one week following the quarterly meeting.
 - ii. Employees will complete a satisfaction survey (for the individual restaurant) every six months with a goal to increase employee communication satisfaction by minimally 15% per quarter as required by restaurant standards.

Transfer of Analysis

The material will be addressed through the three competency domains:

- Critical Thinking
- Cognitive
- Psychomotor

The critical thinking method will be defined through a case scenario which would be service sector specific to each individual. The cognitive test would be a written test, as already practiced by Olive Garden, and the individuals would be required to score at the 85th percentile versus the Darden requirement of 80%.

Lastly, the individual would be assessed through the psychomotor skills with hands on demonstration observed by a manager or certified trainer. In this case, the individual must pass all aspects of the psychomotor skills demonstration. A skills list will be developed in order to define the procedure required step by step. The individual will be evaluated through competency and demonstration through the defined psychomotor skills; which will be the preferred method used in this module.

(b) Gloves are worn while preparing ready-to-eat (RTE) food, as well as with raw ingredients such as raw chicken or beef.

(c) Gloves are used to prevent cross-contamination (which can cause food borne illness) as well as the spread of communicable diseases.

(1) PPE

(a) Who is a food service individual?

(i) According to IC 16-42-5.2-5 (State of Indiana);

"Food handler" defined

Sec. 5. As used in this chapter, "food handler" means an individual who:

(1) is an owner, an operator, a manager, or an employee of a food establishment; and

(2) is responsible for or oversees the storage, preparation, display, or serving of food to the public.

(b) What are gloves used for?

a) Balancing Scale & Weighing Salad Greens

i) What is the purpose of using the scale?

(1) Need for a scale

(a) The digital scale assists in properly portioning the OG Salad Greens in order to eliminate salad “waste.”

(b) Often to measure items in container’s; the scale will need to be “tared” or “zero’d out” prior to usage.

(i) ZERO/TARE-Scale re-balanced- Used to re-zero the scale in order to measure out a proper portion.

E.g. In order to measure only four ounces of pepper, you would place a pan on a scale; “zero”(tare) it out, and then pour the pepper in the pan until it would read four ounces. If you did not “zero” out your scale, the scale would be taking the weight of the pan; thus giving an inaccurate weight for the specified ingredient (pepper).

(2) How to use the scale

(a) 1. Plug in the scale and place on a level surface

(b) 2. Observe the buttons on the scale

(c) 3. Turn on the scale

(d) 4. Allow start up and display zero

(e) 5. In order to effectively measure any food product with a container on a scale; it must be calibrated (zero’d out) prior to usage.

- (f) If weighing product without a pan; place on the scale and weigh until proper weight is desired.
- (g) 6. Be sure to note where the TARE (ZERO OUT) button is prior to measuring ingredients.
- (h) 7. Place the desired container (Salad bowl and tongs) on the scale
- (i) 8. The scale will display the weight of the salad bowl.
- (j) 9. Press the "TARE"(ZERO OUT) Button on the scale
- (k) 10. The scale will now be zero'd out/calibrated & portioning can now begin.

9) Portioning OG Salad

a) According to number of guests

i) Salad portioning is required as part of Olive Garden standards.

(1) As noted throughout training, salad is portioned according to the number of guests who order salad with their meal.

(2) The following chart shows the correct amount of ingredients for a properly portioned OG Salad.

b) Steps to portioning an OG Salad

i) 1. After you apply PPE and calibrate your scale; begin portioning salad greens into salad bowl until desired weight is reached.

ii) 2. Add the following ingredients in the following order:

(1) Roma Tomato Slices

(2) Pepperoncinis

(3) Red Onion Rings

(4) Black Olives

(5) OG Signature Salad Dressing

(6) Homestyle Croutons

(7) All ingredients prior to the salad dressing shall be placed on the salad in a uniform order to allow proper food presentation.

10) Olive Garden Cheese

a) Grated Romano cheese (optional) is grated complimentary at the guests' table.

Scale use

Balancing Scale & Weighing Salad Greens

31

WHAT IS THE PURPOSE OF USING THE SCALE?

32

Need for a scale

- ▣ The digital scale assists in properly portioning the OG Salad Greens in order to eliminate salad “waste.”
- ▣ Often to measure items in container’s; the scale will need to be “tared” or “zero’d out” prior to usage.
 - ZERO/TARE-Scale re-balanced- Used to re-zero the scale in order to measure out a proper portion.
E.g. In order to measure only four ounces of pepper, you would place a pan on a scale; “zero” (tare) it out, and then pour the pepper in the pan until it would read four ounces. If you did not “zero” out your scale, the scale would be taking the weight of the pan; thus giving an inaccurate weight for the specified ingredient (pepper).

33

How to use the scale

1. PLUG IN THE SCALE AND PLACE ON A LEVEL SURFACE

2. OBSERVE THE BUTTONS
ON THE SCALE

How to use the scale

3. TURN ON THE SCALE

4. ALLOW START UP AND DISPLAY ZERO

How to use the scale

5. In order to effectively measure any food product with a container on a scale, it must be calibrated (zero'd out) prior to usage.

- If weighing product without a pan; place on the scale and weigh until proper weight is desired.

6. Be sure to note where the TARE (ZERO OUT) button is prior to measuring ingredients.

How to use the scale

7. PLACE THE DESIRED CONTAINER (SALAD BOWL AND TONGS) ON THE SCALE

8. THE SCALE WILL DISPLAY THE WEIGHT OF THE SALAD BOWL.

How to use the scale

9. PRESS THE "TARE" (ZERO OUT) BUTTON ON THE SCALE

10. THE SCALE WILL NOW BE ZERO'D OUT/CALIBRATED & PORTIONING CAN NOW BEGIN.

Purpose of evaluation

The purpose of my formative evaluation is to assess if my materials meets my instructional goal; “Olive Garden employee’s will review the procedure for proper portioning of salad ingredients and demonstrate the following criteria with 100% accuracy both in simulated lab setting, as well as being observed during two actual guest experiences.” The need to review instructional materials is imperative in order to test the effectiveness of my materials and to make necessary changes; if needed. The evaluation materials include the facilitator’s manual, or teachers guide; student PowerPoint guide; and all necessary competency materials.

Evaluation of objectives and training module

While the materials were reviewed by a SME, as well two entry-level employees by one-on-one evaluations; the formative evaluation will also assess the effectiveness of the materials through a small group evaluation with other employees. Each individual who reviewed the materials filled out a material evaluation form.

The Audience

The information from this evaluation; in combination with the revised instructional materials will be used to train Olive Garden restaurant employee's on proper salad portioning.

Participants

The participants include an Olive Garden Manager, two Certified Trainers, and five entry-level employees.

SME's

The subject matter experts were an Olive Garden Manager, and a Certified Trainer. The Olive Garden Manager has been with the company for 11 years, and has been a general manager at two different restaurants. The Certified Trainer has been with Olive Garden Restaurant #1810 since the restaurant originally opened.

One-to-One

Five restaurant employees were chosen for the one-to-one evaluation. The first individual was a Certified Trainer who has been with the company since the restaurant opened. All other individuals ranged from working in the restaurant since Olive Garden restaurant #1810 opened to six months of service from the present time. These individuals' job classes include servers, a bartender, and a kitchen cook. Individuals were chosen based on job position within the restaurant, as well as each generally working opposite(varied) shifts.

The Issue

The main concern is still whether Olive Garden employees are properly portioning salads with better success before these instructional materials were produced. Materials were evaluated by all participants, which included measuring if all objectives were met. Observations were conducted in the one-to-one evaluation to determine if the materials were effective enough to allow any participant to properly portion an Olive Garden salad.

The Resources

Data was collected in one-to-one interviews, a materials evaluation, and instructor and student evaluations. A copy machine was utilized to duplicate student and instructor materials; as well as evaluations necessary to review materials.

Instruments

A combination of open-ended questions, as well as questions on a likert scale was used to evaluate instructional materials. Interviews were conducted after all individuals reviewed results.

Methodology

For the evaluation, all learners were provided with student materials and the materials evaluation to evaluate the training module. The SME's were given the student and instructor materials. All individuals were asked to review the materials and follow the directions provided in the student materials for an individual workshop. Each participant was asked to fill out a student evaluation pertaining to the training module. In addition, SME's were asked to evaluate the student materials, and were given an instructor evaluation in addition to the student evaluation. All results were summarized from the SME's and student participants (available in an appendix of this evaluation).

The Results

Overall, the participants did not have many large recommendations or revisions needed for my materials. All individuals felt the materials were well formatted, easy to use, and understand. A few comments were made about the length of the facilitator's manual and student materials; however, they felt that it was needed due to the manual requiring excessive detail. Evaluation results are available in the attached appendices.

SME results

Mainly positive results were received from both SME's and both had similar recommendations.

Both individuals felt the materials were lengthy, but agreed that it was needed because of the detail provided. One SME felt more visuals were needed; while the other said the visuals were appealing enough. Both SME's felt that more hands-on training could be implemented with this training module as the company prefers evaluating employees by their psychomotor skills.

One-on-one employee results

Similar to the SME results, mainly positive feedback was received with the evaluations as it appeared that all employees had similar recommendations. An employee gave recommendations of having a quick-reference guide available for employee usage during training. A few employees felt the material was too in-depth for their job requirement, as they felt only the general information versus the specifics were required for salad portioning. Perhaps in the future, materials could be revised to make all of the information more appealing. Another individual stated that some of the sample Q & A responses could be more in-depth, as they felt those were a great asset to the training module.

Conclusions and Recommendations

Based on workshops performed and evaluations distributed, positive feedback was given by all participants. A few revisions will be necessary to make the instructional materials more understandable and efficient to use. Most suggestions for revision are noted in the evaluation results in the appendices. It is recommended for all facilitators to completely review the materials prior to instruction.

A. Criswell
EDCI 572
Spring 2011

Plan for small group evaluation

The instructor recommends that the training module be done in groups versus one-on-one training. While one-on-one training will be available for participants who are unable to make it to the group exercise, or who require further instruction; the instructor feels the students will gain more knowledge by participating in group exercises with their peers. This can promote the sharing of knowledge and the ability for others to provide live examples to further emphasize the learning process. Curriculum instruction material will be no different than one-on-one instruction.

Revision and recommendations

Overall, very few major changes were recommended for the materials with the exception of spreading information in the student PowerPoint over multiple slides versus compressing it into a single slide. Once all materials are revised, Olive Garden will be able to utilize the instructional materials to allow all Olive Garden employees to properly portion an Olive Garden salad.

Flow Chart Information

Instructional Goal

Olive Garden Restaurant employees will better understand as well as visualize how to properly portion a salad prior to demonstrating actual psychomotor skills.

Introduction of Task

Olive Garden #1810 opened on July 13th, 2009, in Michigan City, Indiana. Since the day of opening; food waste and portion control have been frequent issues within the restaurant. Portion control has been identified as one of the main tasks/procedures that are desired to be improved on by all employees of the restaurant.

According to Olive Garden and Darden, Inc. standards; there is a specific procedure to follow in order to properly portion many items. In this task demonstration, it will be exhibited how to properly portion an Olive Garden (OG) Salad. While this task may seem relatively easy; certain possibilities and issues have been identified within the analysis that may arise during the process of correctly portioning a salad. With proper demonstration of this task; all staff will be able to properly portion a salad correctly and efficiently.

Flow Chart Information

Note: These flow chart diagrams were made in a program referred to as "Inspiration." Due to the size of these complex charts, the aspect ratio had to be reduced in order fit these into a word-processing document. Please note that by printing these documents, the font size may appear smaller than on the actual computer screen. If these items are only being viewed electronically, please feel free to zoom in or out to reach the desired reading size.

Terms

OG-Olive Garden- Used around the restaurant as an acronym.

ZERO/TARE-Scale re-balanced- Used to re-zero the scale in order to measure out a proper portion. E.g. In order to measure only four ounces of pepper, you would place a pan on a scale; “zero”(tare) it out, and then pour the pepper in the pan until it would read four ounces. If you did not “zero” out your scale, the scale would be taking the weight of the pan; thus giving an inaccurate weight for the specified ingredient (pepper).

OG Salad Mix-Olive Garden Salad Mix- The salad mix is a mixture primarily of iceberg lettuce and salad greens, shredded carrots and purple cabbage, as well as romaine lettuce.

OG Signature Salad Dressing-Olive Garden Signature Salad Dressing/House Dressing-Olive Garden Italian Restaurant’s signature (house) salad dressing only available for distribution at Olive Garden Restaurants.

Additional Instructor Materials

(Sample Questions & Answers)

These questions were developed for the purpose of testing employee “product knowledge” as well as assist them in successfully answering specific questions during an actual guest experience.

1. What is our “house” dressing?

Our house dressing is the Olive Garden Signature Italian Dressing. As learned in training, it is only available for distribution at Olive Garden Restaurants.

2. What other dressing choices does a guest have available?

The guest has a choice of our house dressing, low-fat Italian, ranch dressing, and parmesan peppercorn. Caesar dressing is available only upon specific request.

3. Is the house dressing made in the restaurant?

Our dressing is pre-prepared.

4. Is a guest allowed to have fresh ground pepper or red-pepper flakes with their salad?

Absolutely! The server will use the peppercorn grinder at the table, and retrieve the shaker(s) with red-pepper flakes from the salad station in the kitchen.

5. Is a guest allowed to add a protein (such as chicken) to their salad?

Absolutely! Servers will ring in a SIDE of chicken.

6. Is a guest/table allowed to have different types of dressings for each guest?

Of course! The server will still bring out a portioned bowl of salad and provide each guest with their desired dressing on the side. An example would be a table of three; one guest desires the house dressing while the others desire ranch dressing. The server would bring out two sides of ranch, and one side of Italian with the bowl of salad.

7. What salad mix is in your garden-fresh salad?

Our garden-fresh salad contains a mixture of iceberg lettuce, romaine lettuce, shredded carrots, and shredded purple cabbage.

8. What ingredients come with your garden fresh salad?

Our garden fresh salad contains our salad mix, roma tomato slices, black olives, red onion rings, pepperoncinis, homestyle croutons, and our signature Italian dressing.

9. Is a guest allowed to omit certain toppings from the salad?

Yes; a guest may request for a modified salad. If a guest wishes to have no onions on their salad; the server would ring in a salad (modifiers>no>onions). This could be done for any salad topping.

10. Is a guest allowed to have extra salad toppings?

Of course! If a guest requests extra ingredients on their salad; the server would ring in a salad (modifiers>extra>(desired toppings)>on side) with the extra ingredients ON THE SIDE.

11. Is a spinach salad available?

Unfortunately a spinach salad is not available for our guests at this time.

12. Can a guest have a garden-fresh salad only with romaine?

Unfortunately, a garden-fresh salad with romaine is not available to all guests. If a guest has a special dietary need requiring only romaine lettuce; the server should notify the manager.

13. What other salad options are available besides our garden-fresh salad?

A Caesar salad (extra charge) is available to our guests if a guest wishes not to have our garden-fresh salad.

14. Are salads available for carry out?

To-go salads are available (extra charge).

15. Does Olive Garden sell their dressing?

Our Signature Dressing is available for sale. A 17-oz bottle is available for a special price.

16. Are salads allowed to be portioned on a salad plate?

No; a salad must be portioned in the salad bowl.

17. Is extra dressing available?

Extra dressing is available for our guests upon request. (Remember to ring it in!!)

18. Are guests allowed to share a salad?

Sharing is generally not allowed as salads are included with each guest's meal. If a guest wishes to share their salad with an individual who has not ordered salad; a nominal charge will apply.

19. Is a guest allowed to have soup and salad with their meal?

Absolutely! For whichever side does not come with the meal; a charge will apply for an "add-on soup (or salad)."

20. Is the Caesar salad unlimited refills?

Unfortunately only our garden fresh salad is available for unlimited refills with the guest's entrée.
